Forum for Conversations in Theology and Science

2009–2010

About the Forum

The University of Sioux Falls Forum for Conversations in Theology and Science is made possible through a grant from the Metanexus Institute and the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Bob and Betty Jo Roberts. It is dedicated to furthering conversation on the interchange between theology and science among USF faculty, students and members of neighboring academic, religious and scientific communities.

Monthly presentations and discussions of selected topics are open to the public and meant to foster dialogue and understanding on such matters as consciousness and the soul, non-materialistic approaches to physics and cosmology, evolution and human origins, medicine and healthcare and other issues pertinent to the relationship between theology and the natural sciences.

Previous years have explored the History of the Theology/Science Conversation, Theology and the Physical Sciences and Theology and Evolution. The theme for the 2009–2010 year is Theology and the Self. Some topics incorporate discussions from the social sciences and psychology. The Spring USF Theology and Science Conference featured lecturer will be the distinguished author Dr. Paul Vitz.

The forum meets on the University of Sioux Falls campus in Zbonik Hall of the Salsbury Science Building.
